Elisabeth Leamy

Keynote Speaker · Peak Performance + Productivity · Leadership · Moderator + Emcee

A counterintuitive way to beat priority overload - and protect your best work for what matters most.

13-time Emmy-winning journalist and former Good Morning America correspondent Elisabeth Leamy helps leaders and teams conquer priority overload. Through The TRIoritize Technique™, she gives audiences a practical way to identify what matters most - and protect their best effort for the work that deserves it.

About Elisabeth

Elisabeth Leamy spent more than three decades in broadcasting, including a decade as the on-air Consumer Correspondent for ABC's Good Morning America. She has won 13 Emmy Awards and has interviewed presidents and business leaders, Olympians and celebrities. Her investigative and consumer reporting has also helped prompt congressional inquiries, lawsuits and legislation.

> "Actionable genius. The TRIoritize Technique transformed my team."

Signature Speaking Programs

Exceptional Performance
with The TRIoritize Technique™

For mixed groups of executives and employees

Audiences learn to identify their true priorities, calibrate effort intentionally, trade doing more work for doing more important work, and redirect time and resources toward exceptional results.

Strategic Leadership
with The TRIoritize Technique™

For executives and anyone who leads people

The result is a shift from reactive leadership toward more purposeful use of a leader's time, attention and influence.

Radical Productivity
with The TRIoritize Technique™

For employees, teams and individuals

Participants leave with a systematic way to prioritize, calibrate effort and replace pointless perfectionism with more pragmatic decision-making.

Beat Burnout
with The TRIoritize Technique™

For executives, employees or mixed audiences

The program helps people rethink expectations, regain a sense of control over their effort and stop allowing lower-value responsibilities to consume the resources needed for their highest-value work.
